

TO TELL OF GUADALCANAL BATTLES

2 Fire Depts. Fight Fire On New Lenox Farm

A fire of undetermined origin broke out in a large barn on the Ivan Archibald farm west of New Lenox Wednesday night about 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Anderson, wife of the hired man saw the blaze and hurried to the Archibald home and told them about the blaze which was in the hay mow. By quick work the live stock was saved, but many tons of baled hay and straw were destroyed as also was the barn.

The New Lenox and Frankfort fire departments responded and after a hard fight managed to save a new and uncompleted cattle shed and silo. The Frankfort fire department remained for awhile after the fire was subdued, but the New Lenox fire men remained all night to prevent a fresh outbreak of the blaze in the smoldering water soaked hay and straw.

The damage is estimated at several thousand dollars.

The Archibald farm was formerly owned by Ray Brown.

TINLEY WOMAN'S CLUB ENTERTAINED AT SEMMLER HOME IN MOKENA

Mrs. Wm. Semmler entertained the Tinley Park Woman's Club in her home Wednesday at an Early American silver luncheon, which was served at 12:30. The decorations were in the national colors, with table centerpiece of a cherry log and resting on it small red cardboard hatchet. Sixteen members were present.

After the serving, the president, Mrs. Harry Beggs, opened the regular monthly meeting and when the business had been taken care of the program chairman, Mrs. Omar Ebenhack, presented patriotic selections of thought. Mrs. Ebenhack discussed our Bill of Rights and our national Constitution. Mrs. Semmler read the Atlantic Charter, Mrs. Jobson gave the Thought for the Day and discussions on the various subject were enjoyed. For the social part of the afternoon a quiz game was played and group singing of old time and modern songs.

Mrs. H. Breck War Bond chairman, reported the sale of $460.60 worth of bonds and stamps during the month of February.

Mrs. Roy Hannum announced a card and bunco party in her home Monday afternoon March 8, at 1 o'clock for the benefit of the club.

The Mokena VFW Wm. Martin Post will sponsor a dance in the Hatch hall in Mokena, Saturday night March 6th. Everyone is cordially invited.

WHO?

Who is the man with the generous smile

That stands on the bank corner Once in a while?

He looks so pleasant somehow or other

He just seems to be Everyone's brother.

We rather like his congenial way, And hope he will be With us for many a day.

Mokena Workers Volunteer For Red Cross Drive

In preparation for the War Fund Drive a meeting of the volunteer workers of this district was held Wednesday evening in Mrs. Sippel's Store. As the intensive drive is to be made the first week of March, it was necessary to divide the district into as small sections as possible. Quotas have been set for each district by the National body, but during times of extreme need for Red Cross services such as we are experiencing right now quotas are foolish. We need every penny that can be spared so when the worker asks for your contribution GIVE TO THE FULLEST EXTENT of your ability. There will be no Roll Call this year, no Dollar memberships. EVERYONE is a part of Red Cross during war and all of your contributions will be used for War Relief.

Following are the names of those who have volunteered to solicit funds in this district:

Mrs. Raymond McGuire, Mrs. F. Steinhagen, Peter Mancke, Edward Shenkel, Robert Geuther, Mrs. Hugo Neithammer, Robert Maue, Mrs. Elmer Sippel, Miss Elmira McGovney, Norval Robinson, Dale Rueckert, Mrs. Henry Shevlin, Mrs. A. S. H. Bender, Walter Yunker, Joseph Doyle, Immanuel Marti, Mrs. Manly Mumford, Thomas Powers, Mrs. John Marti, Clarence Mast, Walter Olson, Clinton Kraus.

In addition to these people who have taken on specific territory, there will be those who will serve in the booth at the Mokena State Bank and at the Post Office on the day that the bank is closed.

The American Red Cross serves Humanity. GIVE ALL YOU CAN.

FRANKFORT LIONS PUTTING FINISHING TOUCHES ON PLAY

The Frankfort Lions Club is diligently at work rehearsing for their play "Breezy Money" which they will stage at the Frankfort School auditorium Saturday night, March 6th. This play will be well worth coming a long way to see. Be sure to attend and bring your neighbors and friends with you.

TO HOLD FUN NIGHT AT FRANKFORT GYM MARCH 5

The Will County Home Bureau have completed plans for a county-wide Fun Night to be held Friday evening, March 5 at the Frankfort gym. This evening's entertainment is open to the public and every family in Will County may attend.

The program for the evening will include around folk games and dances of all kinds under the direction of Guy Colby of WLS fame and National Barn Dance program. Mr. Colby has had years of experience as a director and will bring with him an orchestra who will take over the music for the evening.

For those who want to hear the music and do not care to participate in such an active program, there will be card games where prizes will be offered. Special door prizes will also be given during the evening.

Special arrangements have also been made to have games for the younger members of the family and it will be possible to secure light refreshments during the evening at a St. Patrick's booth.

DO YOU WANT TO SAVE EXTRA $2 FEE?

If you want to save $2 on your 1943 vehicle tax, all you Mokena auto owners who have not already done so, better pay up before Feb. 28th while you get your sticker for $3, for after Feb. 28 the fee is $5 for the year.

MOKENA BOY GETS NAVY PROMOTION

Word has been received that Chas. Mau of Mokena who has been in the Navy over a year has been promoted to Seaman first class. His many friends are glad to hear of this and congratulate Charles on his success. He is stationed in California.

MOKENA GARDEN CLUB TO HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

The Mokena Garden Club will hold their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Anton Benson Tuesday afternoon March 2nd at 2 o'clock.

TO HOLD CARD AND BUNCO PARTY AT ST. MARY'S HALL

Cards and bunco will be given by the Sacred Heart League of St. Mary's church in Mokena, March 5, in St. Mary's hall at 8:15 pm. There will be prizes for each table and a cash door prize will be given. Free refreshments will be served. Come and bring your friends.

Methodists Answer War Need In Three-Fold Dedication

Across the nation in 42,000 Methodist churches during the Week of Dedication, February 28 to March 7, eight million members of the denomination will be called by their bishops and pastors to rededication of "self, service and substance." Spiritual emphasis will be climaxed in a sacrificial offering on Sunday, March 7, which will be used to meet emergency war needs of providing Christian ministry or financial aid to men of the armed forces, "unrooted families" in industrial defense areas, refugees in war-torn countries, evacuated foreign missionaries, churches and schools in Latin America, and other projects created by wartime conditions.

Big Fox Hunt To Be Held Sunday

Fox hunting has become a very popular sport in the Mokena territory this winter and the hunters are again planning a big hunt Sunday Feb. 28 at Mokena. All wishing to participate in the hunt are asked to meet in Mokena at noon this coming Sunday.

Several hunts have been held in this section this winter, but only a comparatively small number of foxes have been shot. The wary animal has the right title, "sly as a fox," say the hunters who say that if the hunters make any noise, the foxes usually manage to sneak away on the sly. In recent hunts, the hunters have seen quite a number of foxes elude them so quickly that they had no chance to even get a shot at them.

From reports it appears the foxes have multiplied rapidly in the rural areas. They are not being hunted just for the sport of hunting, but also for the $3 bounty there is on each fox and for the good prices a good fox pelt brings.

EXPECT 2200 RATION REGISTRATIONS IN NEW LENOX TWP.

The rationing work for New Lenox Township has met with very hearty cooperation and response and up to Thursday 1300 registrations were reported. It is estimated that when the rationing work comes to a close Friday, a total of about 2200 registrations will have been filed. Volunteer workers from the village and the school teachers have been in charge of the work connected with the rationing program.

START NEW PORK PRODUCTION COURSE

Tuesday evening a group of eleven farmers met at the Hadley school to start a Pork Production Course under the instruction of Loren Sass of Lockport, Ill.

Selection of type was the topic of the first discussion and feeding of Supplements will be taken up next Tuesday at 8 pm. Any farmers desiring to enroll should be present next Tuesday night. Diplomas will be presented to all who complete the course.

MOKENA BOWLING NEWS

Braun's Recreation trimmed Robinson's for two games and cut the Robins lead to four games. Cooper and Hostert's V-Eighters swamped the Mokena Oilers by taking them three games and took possession of third place. In the battle for the cellar position the Mokena State Bankers dropped the Mokena Wallpaper Co. two games down. One of the features of the night was a high team game of 912 pins rolled by the V-Eighters which is high so far.

New Pastor Coming To Frankfort Church Next Week

Rev. Erich G. Bizer, the new pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed Church at Frankfort, Illinois and his family are moving into the parsonage the week of March 1st. Rev. Bizer will preach his first sermon Sunday March 7th, and will be installed Sunday, March 15 by his brother, Rev. Armin Bizer of Northbrook, Ill. The confirmation class will meet Saturday morning March 6 at 10:00 o'clock.

Rev. Bizer comes from a successful pastorate of 12 years at Hubbard, Iowa, where he was pastor of the Zion Evangelical church. There he taught a Bible Class of 164 members and led a Young People's Choir of 30 voices. Rev. Bizer was also active in the Community. For the past ten years he was chairman of the Hubbard Red Cross, and for the past eight years president of the Library Board. For many years he was on the Hospital Board at Marshalltown, Iowa. He has also held several offices in the Church Synod of that District.

Mrs. Bizer has been active in the church, Sunday School and Women's Guild at Hubbard, Iowa. She has been president of the Iowa Synodical Women's Guild since its organization and has been church organist for the past 5 years. In the community she was a member of the Progressive Club and of the Band Mother's Club.

Rev. and Mrs. Bizer have three sons. Raymond is a student at Eder Seminary and Robert at Elmhurst College. Arnold is a sophomore in High School. All three were well known in Hubbard for their musical ability, and for their athletic activities in Basketball and Baseball.

2 RURAL WAR PRODUCTION CLASSES ORGANIZED IN NEW LENOX

Two rural War Production classes in Increasing Pork Production and Increasing Poultry Production began in the New Lenox grade school Thursday evening, Feb. 25, it was announced today by E. W. Rowley of the Vocational Agriculture Department, Joliet Twp. High School.

The courses will cover a period of ten weeks, meeting for two hours, from eight until ten o'clock, every Thursday night. There is no charge for admission, since expenses for these courses are met by Federal funds appropriated for the purpose of increasing agricultural production. Anyone, farmers or townspeople, may attend.

John Francis of New Lenox will be the instructor for the pork production course. Mr. Francis, who is a graduate of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, has been a farmer at New Lenox for the past fifteen years.

Subjects to be studied in this course including Choosing the Breed of Hogs to Raise, Supplements to Feed, Minerals to Feed, Grinding of Feeds, Care of the sow and Litter at Farrowing Time, Diseases and Marketing.

Myron McKiernan of New Lenox will conduct the course in poultry production. Mr. McKiernan, who has a large poultry establishment on his place, is also on the teaching faculty at Joliet Township High School.

The class in Poultry Production will study such subjects as Selection of Breed, Brooding Chicks, Feeding, Raising and Marketing Broilers, Housing, Care of the Laying Flock, and Diseases.

Anyone interested in enrolling in either course who found it impossible to attend the first meeting should contact either one of the teachers or Mr. Rowley at the high school.

TINLEY PARK ROYAL BLUE STORE QUITS

The Tinley Park Royal Blue store which has been operated by Wm. E. Schultz in the Hollstein building for the past seven and a half years quit business last Saturday. The grocery stock remaining unsold, has since been sold to a neighboring Royal Blue Store.

Mrs. Schulz who has been operating a dress shop adjoining the store, has disposed of same to Mrs. Frank Chapman and Mrs. Carl Bochstahler.

Mr. and Mrs. Schulz have purchased a home in Branson, Mo. and expect to locate there. They have made many friends during their stay in Tinley Park who wish them much success and happiness in their new location.

FORMER SCHOOL TEACHER DIES IN DALLAS, TEXAS

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Frick of New Lenox were called to Dallas, Texas last week by the illness of the latter's cousin, Miss Elizabeth Norton, but on arrival found she had died. The body was taken to her old home in Minnesota for burial. The deceased was a school teacher for many years and at one time taught the Alpine and Orland public schools.

Stirring Talk To Open New Lenox Red Cross Drive

The 1943 Red Cross community drive will be launched throughout Will County towns next Monday morning. At New Lenox a special meeting has been called for 8 p.m. at the New Lenox school auditorium. Highlighting the program will be a talk by Corp. Barry of Joliet, a veteran of Guadalcanal, who will give first hand experiences of engagements with the Japs. Other speakers will be Dr. Jeanette Holt of New Lenox and Dr. Gayle Hufford of Joliet, while Principal Victor E. Moore serves as general chairman.

The quota assigned to be raised in Will County for Red Cross purposes is $14500. The quota assigned to the village of New Lenox is $350. The workers of New Lenox will use as their slogan, "Give double wherever you can."

All of the various organizations of the community are being invited to contribute as largely as possible and personal solicitations will be made among the business men and residents of the community to show what an important factor the Red Cross is in providing practical and useful gifts to the men in service and in aiding war relief.

A paragraph from a recent letter of one of the New Lenox service boys, Robert Drake, has this to say about Red Cross.

"The American Red Cross certainly is coming through for us. I often wondered what they did with all their money they collected. Well now I know and I have a lot of respect for the organization."

The following corps of workers have been appointed: For the women: Captain, Mrs. Rose Vackar, Lieutenants, Mrs. S. Sergeant, Mrs. McCam, Mrs. Knowlton, Mrs. Wm. Drake, Mrs. Wm. Penn, Mrs. Hubert Jay, Mrs. Geo. Johnston, Mrs. Bert Mattson, Mrs. W. A. Hamilton, Mrs. Howard Porter, Mrs. Gobush, Mrs. Clarence Luther, Mrs. Schroeder, Mrs. A. Papke, Mrs. Lyman, Mrs. David Peterson, Mrs. Zielinski. For the men: Wm. Penn, Captain, Lieutenants, Fred Krog, Geo. Marshall, Fred Francis, E. Marti.

These workers will greatly appreciate your hearty cooperation in this important drive. The meeting scheduled for Monday night is for the entire community and a full house is desired. An invitation is extended to the entire community to turn out en masse.

The Red Cross drive for New Lenox Township will be inaugurated at this meeting.

GLENN FOLKERS RETURNS FROM WASHINGTON

Glenn Folkers of Frankfort, who is secretary of the National Letter Carriers Association, returned this week from a four weeks stay in Washington, D. C., in connection with national legislation.

SAYS PUBLIC WILL PAY COST OF PUBLISHING PROPAGANDA MAGAZINE

The public in the end is going to foot the bill for the Office of War Information's Propaganda Magazine "Victory", Representative Leslie C. Arends of Illinois warned this week.

He pointed out that advertisers will be "permitted" to buy space at $3,000 a page and declared war contractors will be given the first opportunity to buy this advertising.

He continued: "Should they do so, the amounts spent might well be added to the cost of producing war materials. Then, under the plan of cost plus fixed fee, we easily can anticipate dear old John Q. Public paying that much more in taxes to defray, in the end, the cost of such a publication."

Arends called on the OWI to justify the use of paper and shipping space for Victory and said:

"Recently newspapers and magazines have been forced to cut down in size and circulation due to the new paper rationing program. Yet the OWI announces that the government expects to use 1,300 tons of high grade paper (regardless of cost) to publish its magazine, of which it expects to sell 500,000 copies a month at 25c a copy."

"Analyzing how much tonnage it will take per year to move all this printed matter abroad, one wonders if it might not be far better if space and tonnage were provided for the folks back home to forward the home town papers to the boys overseas."

"Every boy in service, next to letters from home, wants the home town paper to read, and it will do far more good for the morale of our troops than the sending of propaganda magazines."

For Labor Draft

Bills to draft labor for war industry, covering both men and women, were introduced into the house and senate, respectively, by Rep. James Wadsworth of New York (left), and Sen. Warren R. Austin of Vermont (right). The draft would be handled on the selective service principle. They are shown looking over the measure before it was presented.

Army Moms Popular

Some 500 women from Atlantic City and its environs have volunteered to act in the capacity of "army moms" at the post. They help the enlisted personnel by shortening sleeves, lengthening trousers, repairing rips, sewing on chevrons, and performing other services which the boys appreciate. The soldiers chip in and buy wings for their adopted moms. Here we see Mrs. Helen Neppell sewing on a button for a soldier.

MURDER at PIRATES' HEAD

By ISABEL WAITT

W-N-U RELEASE

THE STORY SO FAR: Judy Jason, who is telling the story, receives an anonymous letter enclosing $500 and asking her to bid for an abandoned church to be auctioned the next day. After the auction the body of a man identified as Roddy Lane is found in a chest in the basement of the church, but disappears a few hours later. Victor Quade finds a golf club near the chest. A fish shed burns, apparently killing an old man named Brown who is supposed to have lived there, although no one has ever seen him. Uncle Wylie's pipe is found near the shed. Hugh Norcross has just told them he used Potter's turpentine to clean Bessie's coat.

Now continue with Judy's story.

CHAPTER VIII

"You cleaned it for her? With turpentine?"

"Uh-huh. Gave me a little. Don't you remember, Potter? You were working on that painting of the Quaker church and I asked if turpentine would do the trick and you said it would and gave me some on my handkerchief."

"That right, Mr. Potter?"

"Sorry, Norcross," the artist said. "I recall no such incident."

Bessie's face flamed. "I don't see what difference it makes if my coat has a spot on it or not except to me. If my brother tried to clean it off I'm sure that was very kind of him. Aren't all artists proverbially absent-minded? That's where your old turpentine went. It wasn't stolen at all. You used it up, Mr. Potter."

Albion didn't answer her but he looked shocked as he edged away to the other side of the group back of Mr. Quincy's chair.

"There's a question I'd like to ask," Victor said. "How many of you have golf clubs here?"

Hugh and Bessie admitted they'd brought theirs, and Aunt Nella reminded us that the minister had some by a significant nod. He had kept silent until the force of unspoken glances made him say:

"That shot I made on the lawn last night. Wasn't my club. Belonged to Mr. Norcross, I think. Didn't bring my own downstairs yet. Why, Quade?"

It would be a good time to search his golf bag, I thought; but Victor only shrugged again and said nonchalantly, "Oh, nothing. Just wondered whose mashie might be missing. Saw one back of Judy's hope chest in the church basement. It had blood on it."

Blood! You could hear the gasp that ran around our piazza and made everybody lean forward with a dazed expression.

"See here, Mr. Quade," Potter said in a voice that trembled, "you had no right to keep this to yourself."

"Yes, why didn't you show us?"

They were all talking at once. Hugh Norcross started down the steps. "The minister—Mr. De Witt there—just said he was using my club on the lawn. Well, if he was, I can soon prove it. All my clubs are initiated. I'll get my mashie."

"But, Hugh, where are you going?" Bessie cried.

"The tent. Left my bag in the tent and forgot to take it in afterward. Don't you remember?"

If she did, Bessie looked pretty anxious.

"Did you see any initials alongside the—the blood?" Mr. Quincy banged the railing and made us all jump.

Victor shook his head. We were all watching Hugh Norcross emerge from his tent without any bag.

"Queer. They're not in the tent. Must be upstairs after all."

Uncle Wylie, who'd been fiddling with his beloved pipe, now sprang up suddenly. "What you looking for, Mr. Norcross. I carried in those clubs. You'll find 'em in your room behind the door."

"Are yours initialed, too, Miss Norcross?" Victor asked.

Bessie inclined her head. "Hugh and I always mark everything."

"Then if the one you saw down at the church isn't initialed, I suppose it's mine—that what you mean, Quade?" The minister fairly shouted it.

"Not necessarily. But if your mashie is missing—"

"Exactly. Well, it isn't. I appoint you a committee of one to go up to my room—the door is unlocked—and bring down my mashie."

"Get it yourself, if you'd feel better about it," Victor said.

The minister got up with great dignity and stalked up the stairs.

Hugh raced upstairs after the clergyman, and presently the two men came down together.

"There's my mashie," boomed the minister accusingly.

Hugh carried one club. When Bessie saw it she paled. Initialed neatly at one end were the letters E. N.

"Some one has used my club in more places than on the lawn, and if there's blood on it I hope to God there's fingerprints, too."

Bessie clenched her hands. Her voice cut like ice. "My brother," she said with unmistakable emphasis, "has a reputation which will put him above any circumstantial suspicion. And if anyone has tried to smirch him by committing a crime with his club, I'll—I'll—"

"Oh, dry up, Bess!" Hugh snapped. "No one's accusing me of anything. Let them try it!"

Mr. Quincy thumped his cane. Lily Kendall giggled nervously, while Bessie glared at her and said: "Tch! Tch!" Uncle Wylie drained his pipe noisily, till Aunt Nella nudged him. It was Albion Potter who brought us all back to normal.

"Look at that cloud effect," he said. "There, that's just what I was trying to put into my picture. Cumulus. My, I wish I'd bought some extra turpentine."

Bessie turned on him, anger in her biting tone. "If you're trying to remind us that your turpentine was used on my coat—why, I think you're plain dirty mean."

Goodness, were they going to fight over such a small matter—at a time like this?

Mr. Quincy beat a tattoo. "We can't all shout!" he shouted. "Let Mr. Quade continue."

Victor gestured from the foot of the steps. "My friends," he began in a voice so imitative of President Roosevelt's that even at that tense moment everybody recognized it and smiled, "let's have a quiet little fire-side talk. We all of us have things to explain. Take myself. You have only my word I'm who I claim I am. I had, perhaps, the best opportunity of anyone to commit this crime. Certainly I arrived at the crucial time. I can't find my publisher's letter or any other credentials to establish the fact I'm a well-known mystery writer—Vidor Quinn. And that title—Murder on the Bluff—could anything be more pat? Now, I ask you. The club may be mine. The rest of the committee didn't see it behind the sea chest. Perhaps I put it there. I don't happen to have is my own. I can assure you it has nothing to do with this story. Nothing whatever."

"Course it hasn't," scoffed Aunt Nella. "Even if the poor man did lose every penny when the Lane Bank blew up, and Roddy swiped—"

"You keep still," advised my uncle, for once in his life. "Mind your own business."

"True, ain't it? Tell 'em it's true, Reverend."

"Yes, it's true. When that crooked son of the Old Man's cleaned out the bank, I lost everything I'd saved from years of hard work. But others lost, too."

"Why, wasn't it insured?" Victor asked.

"Nobody knows exactly, but what insurance there was didn't cover Roddy's supposed embezzlement. People couldn't prove young Lane did steal the funds; he was never brought to trial because there wasn't anything to go by. But the money was gone. The bank failed. The Old Man shot himself."

"Roddy hid it in the Castle, if you ask me," added Aunt Nella. "Now, we're getting somewhere!"

Victor said, "How many of you people lost money in that fiasco?"

Nobody spoke. Mr. Quincy was drawing imaginary circles on the porch with his nervous cane. "You can't expect us to answer a question like that, Mr. Quade. Practically admit a motive for killing Roddy Lane? You're crazy!"

"Not so crazy as you think. Why should an innocent person hesitate? A matter of record, isn't it?"

Uncle Wylie removed his pipe. "If 'twas, this might not have happened. Only record is personal bankbooks. Nella and me—we've got our'n. But the ledgers of the Lane Bank vanished along with the funds. Nella's nuts to say they were hidden in the Lane Castle. Authorities scoured the place high and low, at the time. Couldn't find a thing. That was after the old man shot himself, which some thought, as didn't know him, was tantamount to a confession. Might a-been at that—for his son. But Roddy got off scot free. No proof against him. Want to see our accounts? Joint they was."

"Later, Mr. Gerry. You weren't afraid to speak up."

"Why should he be?" Auntie snapped. "The savin's didn't make him half so mad as the fight over the boundary line."

There she went—making things worse for poor old Uncle. The police would have a sweet time twisting him around in their net. Not only the lost savings and the old boundary feud, but the damning evidence of his having been intoxicated, the finding of his pipe at the scene of the ruined fish shack he'd threatened over and over, quite publicly, to burn down some day. Was Victor Quade also adding up these things to make harmless Uncle Wylie Gerry into a killer?

But Victor struck everybody silent when he said: "Mr. Gerry, you're the only one here who knew this man Brown. Is that right?"

That was correct, Aunt Nella only having seen him a few times at a distance.

"Of course," Victor went on, "he may be quite all right. We've nothing to prove he didn't go to Rockville last evening and stay there, or try to return to the Head and find the bridge out. But an old man—to go off like that and leave a light burning. You're sure about the light, you two?" He looked from Mr. Quincy to me, and we both corroborated.

"That there ear trumpet—he never went nowhere without it," Uncle Wylie said. "Not even fishin'. Had it tied over his shoulder some way."

"Suppose you describe the man. Was he tall?"

"Not so very. Warn't short, neither. Kinder medium, and stooped-like. Come to think of it, I usually saw him settin'—either on the bench in front of the shack or over on the rocks back of the church."

"Well, go on. Was he light or dark? Old or young?"

"Don't rush me. You know he was old—as old as the hills. So old I thought he hadn't oughter be livin' all alone by himself and asked him why he did. But he answered as always, sticking that ear-thing into my face and turning his sideways. 'Hey? I'm a leetle hard o' hearin'.' Speak louder. You'd think he'd stepped out of some Yankee play. 'The Old Homestead' or 'Way Down East.' Character, he was. Old-timer. Only other thing I ever heard him say was 'Fishin'. Liked to fish off the rocks when he first come."

"And when was that?"

"Not so long ago. Just afore you tourists, warn't it, Nella?"

"How sh'd I know? Nobody saw him come. Just saw a light there one night, and you went over and there he sat on the bench, twiddling his thumbs and blinkin' at the sea," Aunt Nella replied.

"Blinking, did you say?"

"That's what Wylie said—behind his thick glasses. Wylie lit his pipe—" she broke off abruptly, as if the memory of the fishhouse and her husband's pipe were too painful to go on with. "Said he was poverty struck lookin'. Old and deaf and hunched up and quavery sort of. I said if he made a nuisance of himself before my guests I'd have him fired out of there, but he never did. Squatter, you said, Wylie."

Washington, D. C.

ARMY VS. NAVY

The Selective Service system isn't advertising it, but there has been some fierce rowing behind the scenes over the induction standards of the army and navy.

Though the army has liberalized its physical and mental requirements to increase the number of draft eligibles and likewise keep the induction of married men at a minimum, the navy still clings to the higher standards in effect while it was taking only enlisted men.

Virtually all physical requirements are higher for the navy, but the biggest difference is in the mentality tests for the two services.

Navy induction doctors won't pass a man unless he has a fair I.Q., whereas army doctors are required to approve lower standards.

Result is that thousands of inductees who express a preference for the navy are turned down and find themselves in an army uniform instead. The fact that the army has to take these navy "castoffs" is bitter medicine to war department hignups; and Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, made a strong protest about it behind closed doors recently to the War Manpower commission's management-labor policy committee.

The standards for both services should be uniform, Hershey declared, adding that if the navy's standards were brought down to conform with those of the army, it would help offset the need of inducting married men, especially those with children.

The navy has been turning down a large number of single men for physical or mental reasons, Hershey pointed out.

"How has the difference in standards affected the army?" the draft director was asked.

"It's affected us plenty," exploded Hershey. "The navy selects whom it wants and the army gets all the lower element."

The committee agreed with Hershey, promised to recommend to WMC Boss Paul McNutt that he endeavor to have the navy's standards lowered.

FRANK NAVY TALK

Vice Admiral Fred Horne, assistant chief of naval operations, has been holding some quiet blackboard talks with the house and senate naval affairs committees, and these talks have been a real step toward congressional-executive co-operation.

Horne, by his frankness and willingness to admit navy mistakes, made a better impression than any other navy man appearing before congress.

Horne was high in his praise of our naval officers and men, but frankly admitted that the navy was caught off guard in the Savo Island battle of August 9, just after the marines landed at Guadalcanal. He said there was no excuse for this defeat; that a board of inquiry was now investigating; and there probably would be heavy penalties for the guilty.

Horne said that apparently the captains of the cruisers sunk had not ordered their men to battle stations. He also revealed that an Australian admiral that night was in command of the "screening force" of cruisers and destroyers supposed to be protecting the main task force.

Horne admitted that the Australian officer and Admiral Kelly Turner, chief of the Allied task force, knew a Jap scouting fleet was in the vicinity, but didn't figure it would risk an attack. The commanders calculated that the earliest possible time the Japs could reach Savo Island was after daybreak next morning.

Therefore, the Australian admiral left his flagship, the Canberra, and spent the night on Admiral Turner's flagship 25 miles from the scene of battle. No orders were given meanwhile to Australian and American officers under Turner and the Australian, and they were caught completely off base when the Japs struck at about 1:30 a. m.

Japs Cornered in Aleutians.

On the more optimistic side, Admiral Horne reported the United States had sunk a great many Jap cruisers, and that despite the defeat at Savo Island we had been definitely superior in operational strategy.

In the Aleutians the Japs are so completely bottled up, Horne reported, that we probably could wipe them out at any time. Our submarine patrol has been especially effective in these waters, with the result that the Japs are desperately hard up for food, aviation gasoline and other supplies.

Horne also made no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the submarine menace.

CAPITAL CHAFF

Interesting question: Why is it that army air crashes during training and operations right here in the U. S. A. are military secrets? Could it be that some persons are trying to protect themselves from public indignation?

One of the roads running through the woods around Ft. Benning, Ga., is labelled "Burma Road," another "Chungking Approach." But most popular among soldiers is "The Road to Singapore," because at the end they hope to find Dorothy Lamour.

ARE football players today larger or smaller than old-time lineups? A firm of experts, that deals in such vital statistics for a matter of record, sends in this query. We have no accurate figures at hand, but we doubt that modern football carries any more weight than the old-time parade once offered.

One reason is that every year the game demands greater speed and quickness, which isn't found any too often among the behemoths and mastodons.

You might think the modern game had the bulge in weight when you recall such men as Cal Hubbard, Musso, Joe Stydahar, Al Blozis, Wee Willie Wilkin, Turk Edwards and others from the pro ranks.

But these were the pick of a lot that was both massive and active, two elements needed in any professional line.

These can be listed as the gambling mammoths, picked from the entire football map.

But when it comes to average college weights, there were more than enough big men from 30 or 40 years ago—many of them too big for the modern passing game.

Looking Back

Looking back a few decades, I can't recall any heavier squad than Hurry-up Yost once had beneath Michigan's banner of Maize and Blue.

They were on hand nearly 40 years ago.

In this list, at various times, I recall the following fairly husky specimens—from 1901 to 1906—

Germany Schulz—Center—6 feet 4 inches—240 pounds.

Curtis—Tackle—250 pounds.

Octy Graham—guard—230 pounds.

Rheinschild—tackle—215 pounds.

Neil Snow at end weighed 200 and Willie Heston was around 190.

Schulz, who backed up the line and tackled at either end and all over the field, was the most active big man I ever saw. His closest rival was Cal Hubbard.

The old days, also, were full of giants—Glass of Yale, Edwards of Princeton, Fats Henry of W. and J., Gordon Brown of Yale, Babe White of Syracuse, Heffelfinger of Yale—in addition to Michigan's crushing man power.

And no one has ever accused Minnesota of playing lightweights, year after year.

Rockne's Favorites

Knut Rockne's two favorite Notre Dame teams included no giants.

These were the Four Horsemen outfit and the 1930 squad.

I've always thought his Four Horsemen and his Seven Mules were closest to his football soul, for the reason they happened to be one of the lightest big-time teams football ever knew.

The average weight of the Four Horsemen in the backfield was around 160 pounds.

Elmer Layden at fullback was 162. Harry Stuhldreher was 155. Crowley and Miller around 160.

Adam Walsh, one of the best of centers, was in the general neighborhood of 180—maybe less.

Rip Miller, Navy's brilliant line coach, was a 180-pound tackle.

Pounds and Speed

The 1930 Notre Dame team was probably a stronger outfit. It packed many extra pounds—and still had speed.

Joe Savoldi was its biggest back, but after losing Savoldi around mid-season Rock still had Marchy Schwartz, Marty Brill and a few others left—enough to crush a fine Southern California outfit.

On that team Rock had a midguard by the name of Metzger, who ranged somewhere from 157 to 165 pounds.

Rockne rarely had men in action above 200. He wanted speed, quickness, agility.

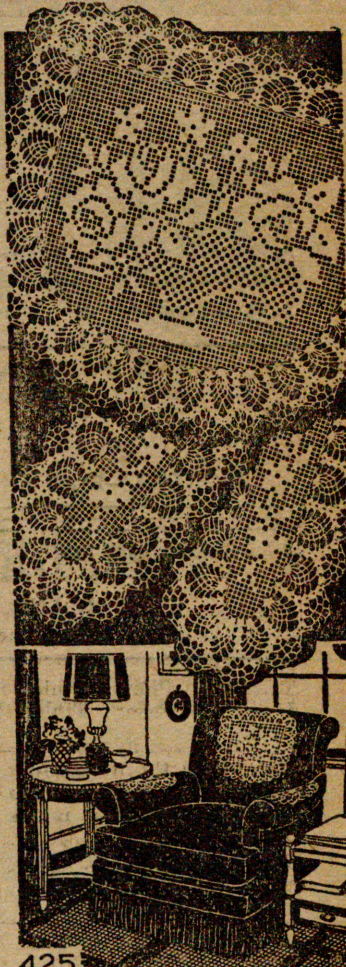

My guess is there would be no great weight change in football over a long period of years. But this is still a guess.

Boston college had one of the heaviest teams in the country through 1942, with a massive line, but it couldn't handle the greater speed of Holy Cross and Alabama.

Weight in football, is still unimportant compared with speed and quickness.

But that doesn't mean football still can't use a flock of big fellows who know how to move around—Mel Hein, Bulldog Turner, Musso, Wilkins, Stydahar, Henry, Blozis, or Hubbard.

Big, fast men always will be the answer to a coach's prayer. And that is true of more sports than football. Speed and size are essential to modern basketball. But here speed is necessary, it's usually the smaller man who fills the bill.

FAMOUS NO-SUGAR
ALL-BRAN MUFFINS
EASY! DELICIOUS!

They really are the most delicious muffins that ever melted a pat of butter! Made with crisp, toasted shreds of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, they have a texture and flavor that have made them famous all over America.

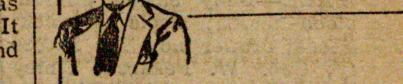

Kellogg's All-Bran Muffins

2 tablespoons 1/2 cup milk
shortening 1 cup flour
1/2 cup corn syrup 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg 2 1/2 teaspoons
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran baking powder

Cream shortening and corn syrup thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk, let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 8 large muffins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small muffins, 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT

In Zambesi, Africa, carts used by the natives have tires made of elephant hide, which serves the purpose of rubber.

In Bulgaria natives paint pictures of their enemies on their tires so they can be regularly splattered with mud, as a gesture of contempt!

Cars and trucks for transportation account for 56 per cent of the Army's rubber requirements.

Cord tire construction, the type common today, first made rapid inroads on the cord-woven fabric tire in 1915. Low pressure balloon tires made their appearance in 1924.

Cryptostegia is a new word for the rubber lexicon. To Floridians it is the technical name for the Mexican morning glory, which has been recognized as one of the most promising rubber-producing plants.

TINLEY Park Garden Club News
The Tinley Park Garden Club held their regular meeting on Thursday, Feb. 18 at the home of Mrs. Fred Goebel.

Mrs. Swisher, vice president opened the meeting. Mrs. Baldwin gave a report of the meeting at the Palmer House.

Mrs. Mager and Mrs. Brueggeman had charge of the program, which opened with the singing of "God Bless America" accompanied by Mrs. Selma Duff at the piano.

Articles were read about Lincoln and Washington. A belated Valentine party was also held with an exchange among the members.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James English on Thursday, March 18.

Two rural War Production classes in Increasing Pork Production and Increasing Poultry Production began in the New Lenox grade school Thursday evening, Feb. 25. It was announced today by E. W. Rowley of the Vocational Agriculture Department, Joliet Twp. High School.

The courses will cover a period of ten weeks, meeting for two hours, from eight until ten o'clock, every Thursday night. There is no charge for admission, since expenses for these courses are met by Federal funds appropriated for the purpose of increasing agricultural production. Anyone, farmers or townspeople, may attend.

John Francis of New Lenox will be the instructor for the pork production course. Mr. Frances, who is a graduate of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, has been a farmer at New Lenox for the past fifteen years.

Subjects to be studied in this course including Choosing the Breed of Hogs to Raise, Supplements to Feeds, Care of the Sow and Litter at Farrowing Time, Diseases and Marketing.

Myron McKiernan of New Lenox will conduct the course in poultry production. Mr. McKiernan, who has a large poultry establishment on his place, is also on the teaching faculty at Joliet Township High School.

The class in Poultry Production will study such subjects as Selection of Breed, Brooding Chicks, Feeding, Raising and Marketing Broilers, Housing, Care of the Laying Flock, and Diseases.

Anyone interested in enrolling in either course who found it impossible to attend the first meeting should contact either one of the teachers or Mr. Rowley at the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cupp, Mrs. L. D. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brock attended the Dedication of colors and Memorial service at Fletcher Sullivan Auxiliary No. 2580 of VFW at Midlothian last Saturday night.

F-O John Gotham is spending a few days leave in Tinley Park.

Warren Harry, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schluter was baptized at the Zion Lutheran church Tinley, Sunday, Feb. 21. The sponsors were: Mr. Harry Schluter Sr. of Aurora, Arthur Henke Jr. and Mrs. Aurora Henke.

There are about two hundred and fifty men here now, with two hundred coming in February and more in March. Of the first group fifty will leave in one more week, however the rest including me, are to be here for three months. Right now we are studying Navigation, Mathematics, Physics and Communications. We are going to study Aerology, Principles of flight, Aircraft Recognition, Aircraft Construction and Airplane Engines before we leave here so you can see that we'll be plenty busy. Beside these academic subjects we have Military drills, (marching), swimming and various Gymnasium activities.

The people here are very friendly and treat us wonderfully. I go to church every Sunday. And the people at the Church would take us out for dinner every Sunday, if we so wished. Some of the Boys accept their invitation and report a very good meal and an enthusiastic reception.

The weather here is as changeable as Chicago's cold and dry one day and warm and wet the next. Tonight it is really cold out, as there is a strong north wind blowing.

That's all I have to say for now, so long for awhile.

Donald A. Boerner, Av. Cadet USNR, USNFPs, Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill.

Dear Friends:
Monmouth College isn't very big, but it has a pretty campus. There are seven buildings on the campus. It is known for its course in Chemistry. The regular faculty and student teachers are teaching the courses to the Navy Cadets.

The weather here has been cold and also plenty of snow. It is warm today so there is plenty of water from the thaw. The weather here is about the same in Tinley as it is here.

Well, that's all for now, so I will close.

Dear Friends:
I thought I would drop you a line to let you know that I am getting your paper regularly and sure glad to read the home news. And makes me feel at home then. I really like the Army because they sure treat me swell and I am gaining weight since I got into the service. I sure thank you for sending the paper to me while in armed service.

Yours truly,

Dear Friends:
Received my first issue of the Times today it really inspired me. I have showed it to everyone I know and told them who sent it. They thought it was a very nice gesture.

"Miami the playground of the nation." Don't let people fool you. This morning the mercury dipped to 38 degrees. The fellows were all singing Jingle Bells while marching.

Boy is my face sunburned my nose is so red I look like an inebriate all the time. I live in one of the nicest hotels on the beach for obvious reasons the name must be withheld.

Jan. 30, 1943.
Hi Everyone:
It has been quite some time since I have written, so today while I have some spare time I'm going to make up for it.

Last time I wrote, I think I was in New Orleans, La. From there I went to Norfolk, Va. into a P. B. M. Sqd. 201, which is a Squadron of Patrol Bombers. It may sound funny for a sailor, flying instead of sailing, but these Flying boats are a very vital part of our coastal defense. Well I was up in Norfolk for 3 months. I am now down at Banana River, Fla., the land of sunshine. Incidentally, you will probably want to change the address so the Tinley Park Times will get to me.

That reminds me I never did thank you for the swell Xmas box. It was one of the nicest gifts I've received this Xmas. I also want to thank the Garden Club for the handkerchiefs.

Two weeks ago I was transferred out of the Sqd. 201 into transition Training Sqd. Atlantic for further schooling in radio and code, so I am back in school again and it really is interesting.

From the looks of things in the newspapers, it seems like we may all be together again by next Xmas. Hoping we will get this thing over with soon I remain,

Peter Haas, Sea 1-c, NAS TTSA, Radio School, Banana River, Fla.

Dear Friends:
Well we made the pond all right and I am now on active duty at last. As you know I am a MP and I have to do the regular duty, in a town over here. We have very little trouble as there isn't much liquor to be had and that is rationed pretty hard.

I have an opportunity to fly in a bomber now and then and I am going to take advantage of that as soon as possible. Maybe I'll get to be a gunner yet, although I am too big and heavy.

Give my regards to all and say hello to Doc Cavett for me.

Sgt. Fred Willmann, 982 MP. Co. Bn. Wing, New York, New York.

An automobile driven by Roy Newton was badly damaged Sunday morning when it crashed into a telephone pole at the intersection of route 30 and Cherry Hill road, after being forced off the pavement by a passing car. Neither Newton nor Carl Krapp who was riding with him, were injured.

Mr. and Mrs. John Balaz entertained at a six o'clock dinner Feb. 23rd in honor of Mrs. Henry Yunker's birthday and Mr. and Mrs. Balaz's 31st wedding anniversary. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yunker, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kohl, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Erdman and family.

The Mission Circle of the Gospel Mission will be held Thursday March 4th at the home of Mrs. Morry Larson at 2 p. m. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Swanson of Chicago spent the week end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Benson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Spiess entertained their pinocle club in their home Friday night.

The bakery sale of the W. S. C. S., of the Methodist church held last Saturday in the store of Mrs. Elmer Sippel was well attended.

Mrs. Harry Schoen who recently underwent a major operation in the Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, has returned home and is convalescing nicely.

The recent hard time party held at Hirsch's was a great success and all present thoroughly enjoyed the affair and are eagerly looking forward for another party at this popular place.

The village board meets in regular monthly meeting next Tuesday evening.

Howard Goham of Lincoln, Neb. visited at the Everett Cooper home the past week. He had been attending a convention in Chicago.

WOMEN'S SERVICE CLUB NEWS
By Mrs. Leslie G. Clark

The regular monthly meeting of the Mokena Women's Service Club will be held Monday evening, March 1st at 7:30 o'clock sharp in the school auditorium. After the meeting members will go to the Red Cross Work Room as usual to help with making surgical dressings. Since the need for this work is so great, it is hoped all members will make every effort to attend.

Word has been received by the family of Pvt. Richard Walsh that he is ill in the hospital at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. We hope you will soon be up Dick and that goes for Pvt. Edwin Wachter too, who is ill in the hospital at Fort Sill, Okla.

Congratulations are in order for the first anniversary of his induction into the army last Feb. 18th of David Tierney. He has been promoted to the rank of Sergeant. Good work Dave.

Pvt. Robert Benson is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Benson. He was called home to attend the funeral of his grandfather, John Benson of Joliet.

Pvt. Robert A. Clark spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Clark. Many of our boys have written home to tell us about the fine Valentine boxes they have received from the Woman's Auxiliary. The members of the Service club wish to thank this splendid group for their thoughtfulness of our boys. Also we would like to thank them for addressing and mailing the News-Bulletin to the boys. The following are excerpts from letters we have received:

"I want to thank the Auxiliary for the lovely box. I appreciated it very much and I know now much trouble you have gone thru to make up these boxes for us. I know every soldier is glad to receive gifts like that. We share with the other boys, but I got what I wanted." Pvt. Geo. A. Hentsch, Camp Campbell, Ky.

"Here it is almost St. Valentine's Day and I'm just writing a thank-you note for the marvelous Xmas box that all of you gave me. There were so many nice useful things in it. I am sorry that I'm late in writing this letter. But I always say it's better late than never. Any way I really wanted you to know how I felt about the gifts. You certainly know your stuff when it comes to building up morale. Thank you again."

Pvt. Edwin Wachter, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

"I received the package you sent for my birthday. I certainly appreciate it and can use every bit of it. When I opened it the boys all said you sure must come from a good little town, as they still remembered the package I got at Xmas time. I've been telling them I come from the garden spot of the world and now they're beginning to believe me. Well thanks a lot for every thing."

The sun hasn't shone here for 2 weeks, always cloudy and foggy.

While I was at Redmond, Oregon I met Lt. Oliver Lauffer. It sure felt good to meet some one from your home town. He was the first fellow I've met from home since I'm in the army.

Sgt. G. W. Bruhn, Walla Walla, Washington

"Received your package a few days ago and I want to thank you. It arrived in good shape and I think it was one of the nicest and most complete packages I have ever seen."

"I am well and I am getting along fine. It's not the nicest place in the world, but we are getting used to it."

"We" have beautiful warm moonlight nights here. I never thought I would ever see the day when I hated to see the moon come out bright. I have traveled quite a bit but we are all looking forward to the day when this is over and we can return. I want to thank you all again for I enjoyed your gifts very much."

FRANKFORT

Mrs. Arthur Lambrecht

Funeral services were conducted in Lincoln, Neb., last Tuesday for Mrs. Frankie Tinker who died in Chicago Friday in the home of her son following a brief illness. Mrs. Tinker left Frankfort about three years ago after spending 15 years here at the home of her brother-in-law, John Logan. She is survived by three sons, Alwin, of Coldwater, Kansas; Edward of Alvo, Neb.; Paul of Chicago; one step-son Alonzo of Calif., fourteen grandchildren and several great grandchildren. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Logan, Mrs. Harriett Knater and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Logan, Mr. and Mrs. George Andrew and Mrs. Blanche Mitchell paid final respects at the chapel in Chicago where the body remained until shipment to Kansas was made Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wanner celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary Saturday evening at the Grange Hall in Manhattan. About 125 guests were present and enjoyed playing pinocle. Honors for scores went to Mrs. William Nagel, Miss Dorothy Buck, Herman Weichbrodt and James Fleming. The honored couple was presented with a purse and Mrs. Wanner received a corsage of roses. At a late hour refreshments were served at quartette tables.

Some relatives surprised Mrs. Stanley Wanner when they called Sunday afternoon in honor of her birthday anniversary. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bettenhausen, Mrs. Nita Erickson, Elmer Lueke, Dr. Lloyd Bettenhausen and son Jack, all of Chicago Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bailey and family of New Lenox, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wanner, Mr. and Mrs. John Weber and sons and Mrs. Adella Lorenzen. After supper the evening was spent informally.

Cards should be mailed now in order to reach Pvt. Raymond W. Smith for his birthday on March 14. He is stationed somewhere in Alaska and the address is A. S. 36304062 Co. K, 4th Inf. A. P. O. 942, Seattle, Wash.

The first meeting of the Red Cross Home Nursing Class was held at the Frankfort school Tuesday afternoon. A brief outline of the course was presented by Miss Florence Hollstein, R. N. who is the instructor, stating the four main objectives as, one, to increase knowledge and ability in order to take care of the family's health; two, to give safe home nursing care under the guidance of a physician when continuous professional care is not available; three, to assume responsibility for participation of the community health and welfare and fourth, the ability to administer first aid in home emergencies. Additional students will be enrolled at the next two meetings and last time may be made up in order to qualify for the Red Cross certificate at the end of 24 hours of theory and practice. Miss Hollstein announced that more than a million certificates have been issued since last June as evidence of the popularity of this valuable course. 19,000 registered nurses are serving with the armed forces and the number is expected to reach 30,000 by the end of the year creating necessary adjustments in present day nursing. The group will meet again Tuesday afternoon at the school auditorium at which time it will be decided whether to hold afternoon or evening classes according to the convenience of the students. Evening classes seem to be preferred.

Mrs. Glenn Schroeder and Mrs. Melvin Fink were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower given at the Fink home Saturday evening in honor of Miss Lois Lorenzen, bride elect. Pinocle provided entertainment and was played at four tables with honors for scores going to Mrs. Burnett Schramm, Mrs. Vernon Hansen and Miss Irene Ebert. Duplicate awards were presented to Miss Lorenzen. The table on which the gifts were displayed was decorated with blue and white streamers. A two course luncheon was served at quartette tables. Miss Lorenzen and Harold Ebert will be married Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church with the Rev. Fleer of Chicago officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kaminsky of Mobile, Ala., who spent the past week at the home of the latter's father, William Kampe, were guests of honor at a party given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harnack. Other guests were Miss Faye Mills of Hazel Crest, Roy Pfeiffer of New Lenox, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kohlhaugen of Joliet, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nieland, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bettenhausen, Paul Lambrecht, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Heisner, Warren Heisner, Mrs. Glenn Folkers, Miss Charlene Folkers and William Kampe. Bunco provided entertainment with honors for scores going to Mrs. Kohlhaugen, Mrs. Heisner and Mrs. Folkers.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Kampe was host to a family gathering in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kaminsky who returned on Saturday. Guests were Ben Mager, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Heisner and son Warren, Mrs. Glenn Folkers and daughter, Mrs. Anna Kampe, Miss Ann Maurer and Miss Dora Wieland.

home last week. Pinocle was played at five tables with high scores being held by Mrs. Walter Schoen of Joliet, Charles Kuester and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heiland of Joliet. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Mrs. Charles Pfaff was hostess Thursday evening when the February meeting of the Frankfort Woman's club was held at her home. Mrs. James Bickley presided and opened the meeting with the pledge to the Flag. The group sang songs of native states after which the secretary and treasurer reported. Mrs. Mitchell read several letters from soldiers thanking the club for the handkerchiefs and valentines sent them. "The Portrait of An American" was read by Mrs. Conrad Oetler. Mrs. Edward Vollrath presented the study topic, "General MacArthur." "Geographical and Political Conditions in Africa" was the subject of Mrs. Mina Malek's address. She also related some of her personal experiences while a medical missionary in Africa. Mrs. W. V. Hedges spoke on the greater trades promotion between North and South America. A buffet luncheon was served. The next meeting will be on March 4.

Members of the Martha Sewing Circle of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church spent two days last week at the home of Mrs. H. C. Klepper. Their regular monthly meeting will be held March 4 in the home of Mrs. Albert Minger.

A Valentine playlet was presented by the primary room at the assembly held at the Frankfort school gymnasium Friday afternoon. Jim Hammond took the part of King Cole and Janet Folkers was the queen. The three fiddlers were Glenn Miller, Jackie Knipple and Bruno Klotz. Queen of Hearts was enacted by Beverly Pyle and Grover Weichbrodt was a Page. The part of Simple Simon was played by Norman Klotz. Songs and recitations were presented by the other pupils. Costumes were made and designed by the pupils themselves and many of the mothers attended this entertaining performance. Ruth Minger, an 8th Grader read a tribute to George Washington, in honor of the anniversary of his birth.

Non-Deferable Occupations

Among the non-deferable occupations are many from bootblack to gamblers. Bartenders, bar boys, beauty operators, bell boys, bus boys, butlers, charmen and cleaners, cosmeticians, custom tailors and furriers, dancing teachers, dish washers, bootmen, elevator operators & starters, errand boys, fortune tellers, gardeners, greens keepers, housemen, hairdressers, newsboys, night club managers and employees, porters, private chauffeurs, soda dispensers, ushers, valets and waiters, with few exceptions, are non-deferable regardless of where the activity is found.

Gasoline Credit Cards. Credit cards may now be used at gasoline stations by vehicles carrying a "Certificate of War Necessity" or "T Ration stickers. Most other vehicles cannot use such credit cards. Formerly, stations operating 24 hours a day could sell gasoline to all vehicles only during 12 hours a day and after that only to those with T stickers.

Anyone who has applied for a Certificate of War Necessity may get gasoline pending the arrival of the certificate by notifying his local War Price and Rationing Board. Coupons sufficient for his needs will be issued for the first and second three month period at the same time.

Lumber for Farms. Almost six billion board feet of lumber a year will be required on American farms after the war, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's forest service. More than five billion board feet will be needed for repair and replacement of buildings, 700 million feet for buildings on new farms and 150 million for other uses.

More Fuel for Farm Machinery.

Farm and Mining machinery and equipment producers hereafter will be given more fuel oil for their production. Petroleum distribution Order No. 3, which originally imposed a 40 percent cut on fuel oils for uses other than space heating and hot water heating, has been amended to leave out farm and mining machinery.

Town And Farm In War Time

Rationing begins March 1. Rationing of canned, dried and frozen fruits and vegetables will begin March 1, and retail sales of the more than 200 items to be rationed will be "frozen" on Feb. 20. Beginning Monday, Feb. 22 housewives will register for war Ration Book No. 2, which will allow a total of 48 points for each member of the family for the month of March. Stamps will have values of 8, 5, 2 and 1 points. If a family has more than five 8-ounce cans per person on hand, stamps will be removed from the book in proportion to their excess holdings. Official point values will be made public as soon as stocks are "frozen". Registration probably will be held in local school houses and one member may register for the whole family.

Some foods need not be counted. They include canned olives, canned meat and fish, pickles, relish, jellies, jams, preserves, spaghetti, macaroni, noodles and all home canned foods. "Non-Deferable Occupations". 29 occupations were announced as non-deferable for any reason by the Bureau of Selective Service of the War Manpower Commission on Feb. 2. All occupations in an additional 19 manufacturing, 8 wholesale and retail, and 9 service activities also were called non-deferable. Any man in these occupations is advised to get into a war job immediately. After April 1 he will not be deferred if he stays in his present job. Even if he has dependents, he will still be drafted unless his work contributes to the war effort.

Down the ways goes a new Tank Landing Ship to join America's Navy. Following modern mass-production methods, this vessel was constructed in sections which were electrically welded together at the launching ways.

Ship Building and Electric Power in Northern Illinois

In time of war, as in peace, electricity is the power of industrial activity, the force that speeds production. Here, in this great center of war production, every hour of the day electric power is helping to build ships, tanks, planes and hundreds of other implements essential to victory on the land, on the sea and in the air.

Day and night, it is our responsibility to supply electric power for war production in this area. And to this task we are devoting the skill and efficiency attained through years of experience.

At another ship building plant in the Chicago area a Naval Patrol Vessel is built in sections which are fitted and welded together.

Electric arc welding speeds the fabricating of sub-assemblies as well as the joining of large component sections of Patrol Vessels.

ORLAND PARK

Miss Dorothy Reiter who recently underwent a major operation in St. Joseph's hospital Joliet, has returned home and is very much improved.

Miss Betty Yunker spent the week end in Chicago visiting friends and attending a dance at the Masonic Temple and visiting the Naval Training station at Navy Pier. She has been invited to attend the USO next Saturday. She has been promoted and put in charge of the department at her place of employment.

Word has been received that John J. Cherney and Sherman S. Knox, Jr. have arrived at Camp Wolters, Texas. Clarence Creer is still at Camp Grant where he is doing typing at the Recruit Receiving Center.

Mrs. Ralph Town, Health chairman of the Orland Park PTA attended the meeting of the Friends or Rural Health Nursing in Chicago last Friday.

While attending Church in Chicago last Sunday, Mrs. Evelyn Manning suffered a painful injury to her ankle which required the attention of a physician. Her son Richard, is suffering from an acute eye condition as the result of being accidentally struck across the face by a weed held by one of his playmates on his way home from school.

About 27 members of the Home Nursing class were present at the 3rd meeting of the class last Monday night. The care of the sick bed and the care and handling of the patient was taken up at this meeting with Nurse Rose Hoy acting as instructor and Mrs. Harry Pihl volunteering as patient. A paper on cancer was read by Mrs. Clarence Carlson. The diet for the invalid, its preparation and method of serving will be taken up at the meeting next Monday evening. Miss Marie Dohm, chief nutritionist of the Cook County Health unit will speak on nutritional problems encountered in the care of the sick.

A bake sale and food mart will be held Saturday, Feb. 27 at 2:30 pm. in Loebe's store by the Orland Park Womans club for the benefit of the Public Library. Mrs. J. Pomeroy and Mrs. W. Lindquist are the committee in charge.

Attention is called to the membership and to the public as to the importance of supporting these events. With the withdrawal of WPA funds and the failure of the Village Board to enact the necessary legislation to provide support from tax funds, our library is now dependent, for the time being, on the contributions it receives from the Womans Club and from the amounts realized by Tag Days and sales such as these. It is therefore necessary that every public spirited citizen of Orland Park and especially those who have children who use the library, who themselves are patrons of it to give anything that will help its continued functioning, their wholehearted support.

A surprise post nuptial shower was tendered Mrs. Walter Koehler, formerly Miss Margaret Cooper, at the Legion Hall last Friday evening. About 25 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Pronger, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mahaffay and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Retzke attended the banquet at the Sherman Hotel last week. George B. McKibben, a summer resident of Palos Park and a candidate for Mayor of Chicago, was the principal speaker.

Albert Robson Jr., and two friends of Chicago peddled their way to Palos on bikes to visit Mrs. Jessie L. Mains and Dorothy.

Mrs. Harold A. Bailey has been appointed co-chairman of the Literature group. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Frank Lambin Thursday February 25.

Founders' Day was celebrated at Palos Park school last week. Mrs. Donald Bond, program chairman of the PTA wrote the skit, "An Important Beginning" with the following as members of the cast: Mesdames H. Newman, Walter Rowley, Rex Roove, Neil Anderson and the Palos Park Girl Scouts under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Carl Peterson and the Boy Scout troop from Palos Heights. The first PTA meeting was held in 1897 in Washington, D. C.

Irving Pronger Jr., was soloist at school last week. He sang, "My Buddy" to his classmates in the first grade.

The fine spring weather brought out many horse-back riders last Sunday and Monday. The first sign of Fall and harvest, has been, farmers in the fields combining their soy beans and husking corn that, due to the muddy fields and shortage of help, did not get done last year.

February 27, the first public appearance of the Village Players will take place in the Palos Park Village made up entirely of Palos Park and hall. This Little Theatre group is Palos Heights residents. Two plays will be presented with the first, "The Man in the Bowler Hat" will be under the direction of Mrs. Orvis Henkle. The following will participate in this presentation: Walter Roney, libi Andrews, Dick Kellner, Eddie Roney, John Dunne, Orvis Henkle and Blanche Barnett. The second play "The man of Des-Gibbons and the east includes Mildred Hall, Claud Riemersma, Tom Chamberlain and Dave Norris. Do not forget we expect to see you Saturday evening so come and see your neighbors act!

March 17 is the date set for the roast beef supper to be given by the Men's Club of the Palos Community church. With meat shortage and rationing, come and enjoy a delicious meal all prepared and served to you by the Men of Palos. Don't forget March 17. Roast Beef Supper—Palos Community Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Powell and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Warren McCauley and family Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ray Robson and daughter Martha of Chicago visited George Robson last week.

March 5th is the last day for the collection of books for service men conducted by the Palos Girl Scouts. All donations may be taken to the Palos Library or given to any Girl Scout. Books ransacked from the attic are not the kind the boys enjoy. Any book that you, yourself, like to read and want to keep is just the book the boys want. Western novels are great favorites with the boys. With all these men and boys giving up so much to protect us at home it is a small thing to give up our favorite book to keep up their morale.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

JESUS RESTORES LAZARUS TO LIFE

LESSON TEXT—John 11:32-35, 38-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the resurrection, and the life."—John 11:25.

Suffering, sorrow and bereavement are so common in our day that this lesson is peculiarly appropriate. Life, even to the Christian, finds its full measure of things which hurt and grieve. Many ask: "Why must I, a follower of Christ, bear such burdens?"

The answer is, that while the believer is not "of the world," he is "in the world," and here he must meet the problems of life, including the evils to which the flesh is heir because of sin. The fact that Jesus is our Friend and our Saviour does not exempt us from human sorrow, but it does assure us of the needed grace to bear the trial and makes us ready to trust Him even in life's darkest hour.

Lazarus, the friend of Jesus, was sick. The home in which Jesus had found rest and fellowship was in deep trouble. Jesus was no longer in Judea. In haste, word was sent to Him of His friend's illness. But He did not come.

Why does He delay? Such is the heart-cry of thousands today who call on Him in their hour of trouble. The purposes of God we cannot fully understand. We need only to trust Him and abide His time.

Notice that His failure to respond at once to the message of Lazarus' sisters did not mean that He had deserted them (John 11:4-6). Nor did it mean that He had denied them His help (v. 7).

Above all, note that He came. He always does. Jesus has never failed any child of His. The time and the manner of His answer to our prayers may not conform to our opinion of what should have been done; but let us remember that we know only in part. He knows all. Let us trust Him. Job, in his darkest hour, said: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (Job 13:15).

The steps from sorrow to victorious joy in this story are three in number.

I. Death and Tears (vv. 32-35). By the time Jesus came, Lazarus was dead and his family and friends could only weep as they said: "If thou hadst been here—" Try as we may to temper its cruel blow, the fact remains that death is the enemy of man. It came into the world as the result of sin (Rom. 5:12), and only in Christ is it "swallowed up in victory" (1 Cor. 15:54). Until the glorious day of Christ's returning, when the redemption of the body will be complete (Rom. 8:23), death will continue to bring sorrow to the heart and tears to the eyes.

But let us not fail to notice that as the friends of Jesus, we do not sorrow alone. "Jesus wept" (v. 35) with Martha and Mary. We know that He weeps with us in our trying hour. He is the "friend that sticketh closer than a brother." He is the one who gives grace to meet the deepest sorrow, and to bear it with grace because of His tender fellowship.

II. Faith and Hope (vv. 38-40).

"If thou wouldst believe, thou shouldst see the glory of God," said Jesus to Martha. She must look beyond the evident fact of the deadness of her brother and see God's glory in his resurrection. Thus faith assures us that those who believe in Christ have more than the comfort of His sympathizing presence—they have a sure hope (read 1 Thess. 4:14-18).

Sorrow and unbelief would becloud our faith and thus rob us of our hope. Martha needed to have her faith stimulated by the gracious words of the Lord; and then she triumphantly put her hope in Him, the Christ of God. Once we recognize Him as God, we have no hesitation in believing in His miraculous power.

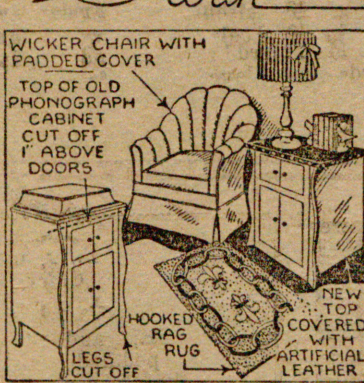

III. Christ and Resurrection (vv. 41-44).

Majestic and authoritative are the words of Christ, "I am the resurrection and the life" (v. 25). He it was who gave life, for was He not "in the beginning with God"? And is it not said of Him, that "all things were made by him" (John 1:2, 3)? Paul tells us that "by him all things consist" (Col. 1:17). He is the only one who could say: "I lay down my life . . . I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it up again" (John 10:17, 18).

So it can rightly be said that if we have Christ we have everything—both in this world and in the world to come. But if we do not have Christ, we have nothing; we are without God and without hope. "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (v. 25) is the promise of Christ to us. Let us believe it.

The resurrection power of Christ is at work in the world today raising the spiritually dead to newness of life in Him.

May we see many such a Lazarus called forth—loosed from the grave clothes of sin and set free.

ON THE HOME FRONT
With RUTH WYETH SPEARS

SO MANY readers have written me to ask what could be made from old phonograph cabinets, and it is only recently that we have found a really satisfactory answer. This smart reading stand with deep green leatherette top has good proportions and is made from an old oak cabinet rubbed down with sandpaper and then waxed. In the next article we will show how the lid of the old cabinet was used.

The new top of the reading stand is made of old lumber and the cover is tacked in place with brass tacks to match the knobs of the doors. The old sound box at the top now houses a small radio and the old record compartment keeps current magazines neatly separated.

NOTE: Today's article is one of more than 30 conservation ideas in the new BOOK 9, of the series of home-making booklets available to readers. Directions for making the padded cover for the wicker chair; and directions for the "Link of Friendship" rug are also in BOOK 9. Just send name and address with 10 cents and a copy will come to you by return mail. Address:

If you reach the feverish stage of a cold, start taking GROVE'S B Complex Vitamins!

Tax Payments

When, Where, and How Taxes are To Be Paid.

Taxes due on a return filed for the calendar year 1942 may be paid in full at the time for the filing of the return on or before March 15, 1943. The tax may, at the option of the taxpayer, be paid in four equal installments instead of in a single payment, in which case the first installment is to be paid on or before March 15, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before Sept. 15, and the fourth on or before Dec. 15, 1943. If the taxpayer elects to pay his tax in four installments, each of the four installments must be equal in amount, but any installment may be paid, at the election of the taxpayer, prior to the time prescribed for its payment. If an installment is not paid in full on or before the date fixed for its payment the whole amount of the tax remaining unpaid is required to be paid upon notice and demand from the collector.

The tax must be paid to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is required to be filed, that is, to the collector for the district in which is located the taxpayer's legal residence or principal place of business, or if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in the United States, then to the collector of internal revenue at Baltimore, Maryland.

In the payment of taxes a fractional part of a cent is to be disregarded unless it amounts to one half cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to one cent.

The tax due, if any, should be paid in cash at the collector's office, or by check or money order payable to "Collector of Internal Revenue". In the case of payment in cash, the taxpayer should in every instance require and the collector should furnish a receipt. In the case of payments made by check or money order, however, the canceled check or the money order receipt is usually a sufficient receipt.
